Revised Scope of Work

Background

The Embassy seeks an organization to develop a regional CGE (computable general equilibrium) economic model, conduct agricultural and trade policy experiments, and organize two workshops for stakeholders on effects of these policies on consumer and producer welfare in different regions in the Philippines. Policies to address include: tariffs on selected imported agricultural products (such as corn, pork and poultry), barriers to trade such as SPS/TBT (Sanitary and Phytosanitary/Technical Barriers to Trade), and delays in movement, release and clearance of imported goods, including goods in transit, as described in the World Trade Organization/Trade Facilitation Agreement (WTO/TFA) ratified in 2017.

The Embassy seeks an organization that is knowledgeable in economic modeling for planning, policy making and capacity building, has the requisite contacts in the key stakeholder groups, and the capacity to design, prepare, and implement activities related to the regional CGE model and two stakeholder workshops through a service contract.

Program Stakeholders

The following is a list of stakeholders with whom the program implementer shall engage:

USDA/Foreign Agricultural Service, Philippine Department of Agriculture, FDA, Bureau of Customs, Department of Trade and Industry, Importers of agricultural products, BPI, BAI, others to be jointly identified by USDA/FAS and the implementer.

Program Detail:

Recent Philippine CGE models can be used as guide for national policy planning, such as ex-ante liberalization experiments on sugar, based on past regional CGE models used for tarrification of agricultural commodities incorporating agglomeration economies to support the Mindanao Spatial Strategy Development Framework, and for impact analysis. International donors supported the development of these models. Global trade CGE models that address SPS and TBT issues do not address Philippine situation in a meaningful way to assist national policy planning and implementation. USDA/FAS's trade policy model, FAS-TM, is partial equilibrium, and currently does not address Philippine-specific issues. At present, there is no documentation of a regional Philippine CGE model, that addresses agricultural and trade policy issues, such as the TFA.

The objective of the TFA, which entered into force on 22 February 2017 following its ratification by two-thirds of the WTO membership, is to boost global trade by expediting the movement, release and clearance of goods. These are the new border-related procedures, processes and other obligations that governments will be required to implement. They will provide transparency of laws, rules and procedures, fairness in border agency decisions, streamlined clearance procedures, and help reduce administrative constraints on transit. There are special provisions that allow developing and least developed countries to implement the Agreement at their own pace. Each country will determine when it will implement each of the technical provisions, and, it can identify provisions that it will only be able to implement upon the receipt of technical assistance and support for capacity building.

The implementer will develop the regional CGE model and collaborate with the USDA/Foreign Agricultural Service in selecting policy experiments, and participants in the stakeholders workshops. Deliverables include: quarterly reporting of progress and areas of concerns in implementing the activities, reports from the stakeholders workshops including an evaluation of new knowledge gained, and an action plan, if needed, for future technical assistance.

Results from the model can be used for positive engagement by FAS Manila with Philippine stakeholders. The model can also be used for identifying areas, where future USDA/FAS technical assistance can be targeted to assist in Philippine agricultural and economic development, and in its commitments to WTO/TFA. Finally, the model can be used by future CGE modelers in the Philippines and other countries.

• Completion Period: Within One (1) Year from the Award date
